Press release

IDEALiStiC Conference at ETH Zürich

IDEA League student representatives meet to talk about 'Student Participation'

Aachen on May 29, 2018

The IDEALiStiC Conference, which will take place from the May 31 until June 4, 2018 in Zürich, covers the topic of 'Student Participation' during eight interactive workshops. Each member union of the IDEALiStiC can send a delegation of 6 students to discuss the main questions of the conference concerning: the visibility of the Student Councils, the integration into the university, the political orientation of the student associations, and the democratic structures in the student associations. In addition to the workshops there will be input presentations about current projects of all the unions, inspiring talks and an exciting social programme.

"We are looking forward to welcoming our guests from the four other IDEA League universities. Additionally, we are excited about having inspiring talks and discussions", as Medea Fux, member of VSETH and the conference organisation committee, commented the invitation.

Background information

IDEALiStiC, the IDEA League Student Council, was established in June 2005, and brings the student councils of the individual IDEA League partners together. The council represents students at the IDEA League partner universities, promotes awareness and understanding of the IDEA League among students by starting new initiatives, provides support and advice to the IDEA League in matters of educational policy and student welfare, and attempts to improve policies on educational issues and student representation by exchanging best practices.

IDEALiStiC holds two conferences a year, during which new initiatives are brainstormed. The ideas decided upon are translated into reality through the rest of the year.
